

Professional TV Mounting- Pose Audio Systems - R1-Final:

Sometimes you just need a simple, professional TV mounting team to help you with the finishing touches. And other times you need someone with years and years of problem solving experience to help you get the job done. We can do both.

You can build out a fully finished entertainment system, without the burden of using power tools and cleaning up the mess.

Hidden TV mounts and concealment panels can be installed with form and function in mind, along with fully concealed cables and interconnectivity to other media devices.

Our installers will provide a premium wall mounting TV service and work with the style of your home to be both well-designed and functional.

And with more than 40 years of experience, we will find a way to power and connect your devices to support the demands of any streaming, WiFi or cable connection necessary.

TV Mounting Specialists

Pose Audio has years of experience working with interior designers to make sure your TV and entertainment systems can be concealed and fit your living space with style.

We couple high-performance technology with functional design panels, hidden TV mounts or even a premium ceiling drop down TV mount to make your space comfortable without obvious wires or cables.

During installation we consider and suggest all options to help you streamline your space and conceal TVs, media sources and remotes.

Media Rooms

Love entertaining? We can customize your video distribution system to include several screens with premium quality sound systems to create the perfect media room sound system or theater.

Recreation rooms with heavy online game use will find high-speed wifi very important. Many choose Pose Audio as the best wifi company for gaming solutions throughout the Washington DC and VA areas.

We can build out your dream room or home theater with multiple large screen TVs, multi-channel audio systems and home theater sound panels for movies or big game days and parties. You can provide the ultimate entertainment for any social event.

About Us

You won't find a better qualified professional television mounting service in the Washington D.C. area that can handle the latest technology in smart home designs, whole house audio distribution systems or digital security systems.
